PROFFESSOR MAMPOLOKENG MONYAKANE

Professor Mampolokeng Monyakane is a distinguished law academic in the Department of Criminal and Procedural Law at the University of South Africa. Since joining the institution in 2014 as a lecturer, she has steadily risen through the ranks, earning her position as Associate Professor in 2021. She has an extensive publication record in both national and international scholarly outlets.

With a strong foundation in legal practice as an Advocate of the High Court of South Africa, she has contributed to every level of South African courts, from District Courts to the Constitutional Court. She is an active member of the Legal Practice Council of South Africa (LPC), serves as a Commissioner in the Small Claims Court, and is a dedicated public interest lawyer who devotes time to advocating for justice on behalf of the indigent.

Her passion and expertise are rooted in her early experience as a law clerk at the Constitutional Court, and further enriched by her pursuit of dual Masters degrees—one in International Economic Law and another in Public Law, with a focus on Constitutional and Administrative Law. She is deeply committed to the rule of law and its enforcement both within South Africa and globally. Her undergraduate studies were centered on international relations and international trade, laying the groundwork for her interest in global legal frameworks. She has attained Doctor of Laws (LLD) in Mercantile Law, with a specialization in Constitutional Labour Law, once again underscoring her commitment to the rule of law across both national and international spheres.

We are pleased to inform you that Prof Mampolekeng will be joining us as a guest lecturer for a seminar in PPLM824 module on the 25th of July 2026.Please take this opportunity to engage with her and gain valuable insights.
