North-West University
Faculty of Law

1–3 (+4) September 2026

ARTICLE-WRITING FOR RESEARCH PUBLICATION (via Zoom)

Workshop A – Introduction to Article-writing and How to Plan a Law-specific (or other RU-related Article) for a Peer-Reviewed Research Journal

Context, principles, concept, audience, journal, components and structure, & academic writing

Facilitators: Dr Elisabeth Lickindorf & Dr Graham Baker

NB: Participating researchers attend the full-group full-morning sessions via Zoom (Tuesday 1 September, Wednesday 2 September, and Thursday 3 September) and then a single scheduled 40-minute consultation for each researcher, during Friday, 4 September.

PROGRAMME

Tuesday 1 September – Introduction (08:15 for 08:30–09:00 full group)

~08:15–08:30 Access to Zoom meeting on Day 1 (hosted by Graham Baker) & coffee
08:30–09:00 Welcome & Introduction to the workshop and how it works

PLUS – immediately followed by Day 1 workshop sessions until 13:00 (see timing below)

DAY 1, DAY 2, and DAY 3

Tuesday 1 September (09:00–13:00)
Wednesday 2 September (08:30–13:00) and Thursday 3 September (08:30–13:00)

Timing of group presentations and discussions (for Tuesday [see above], Wednesday and Thursday)

~ 08:15–08:30 on Tuesday and Wednesday: access to Zoom meeting 15 minutes in advance of Session 1

08:30–09:50 Session 1 – full-group presentation & discussion

09:50–10:00 Break

10:00–10:50 Session 2 – full-group presentation & discussion

10:50–11:00 Break

11:00–11:50 Session 3 – full-group presentation & discussion

11:50–12:00 Break

12:00–13:00 Session 4 –full-group presentation & discussion

Lunch

© Kerlick Academic Services (Pty) Ltd

Topics

Article-Writing Principles and Context

I. Introduction to Research Publication – View from the Editor's Office

A. Principles & Context
- Objectives and keys to success
- What editors, reviewers, and other researchers look for in an article

B. Principles into Practice
- Key stumbling blocks and how to overcome them
- What authors and editors expect from each other
- Other matters arising.

II. Planning and Structuring a Research Article: Step-by-Step Approach from Concept to Article Plan

C. Drawing up a Concept Outline

D. Analysing the audience

E. Writing for the journal
- Choosing a journal
- Using the guidelines to authors
- Using sample/model articles
- Structuring the article – components and content
- Drawing up an article plan

III Way forward

F. Where to from here
- Planning the way ahead: submission, house style & academic writing, & preparing an action plan
- Drafting the article
- Preparation for Workshop B

G. Other matters arising and Conclusion

Friday 4 September (between about 08:30 and 16:00) scheduled individual consultations

Scheduled 40-minute individual consultations, via Zoom, based on the Concept Outlines and Potential Audience notes submitted by researchers in advance of the Workshop.
(Please join the Zoom meeting to which you are invited, hosted by Kerlick, 5–10 minutes before your appointment. Have your WhatsApp available for text messages in case we need to reach you urgently. If there is a connection problem, consultations will take place via a WhatsApp call.)

For access to the workshop, please complete your electronic Kerlick Information form and return it to the Workshop Coordinator, Mr Kgotatso Pudule (with a copy to Kerlick), by return or no later than 10:00 on Wednesday 26 August. We'll then finalize the consultation appointment schedule and forward it to you.
A day or two before the workshop, we'll email your personal Zoom invitations and workshop handouts to the email address you provide on your Kerlick Information form.

Please have easy access to the following during the workshop:
- All the Kerlick workshop handouts that you receive;
- Your personal copy of your concept outline;
- Your personal copy of the recent, relevant published sample article that you submitted;
- Stationery etc. for note-taking.

Johannesburg, August 2025

© Kerlick Academic Services (Pty) Ltd